TICKETS? PRIX LIBRE!

PRIX LIBRE?

The collective is convinced that no one should renounce to culture and entertainment because of financial limitations. The prix libre concept encourages people to reflect about which components are relevant to them, when it comes to putting a price on something. For example: the appreciation of the work done for the festival, the support of the project, the expenses involved or the idea of making culture and entertainment accessible for all. It also enables a fair and equal pricing, adjusted to one's individual resources, and empowers all participants.

The prix libre allows the organisers to create a festival without being profitable, without imposing pricing views on participants and to distance themselves from the value society imposes to human labor.

SECURITY? AWARENESS

Instead of having a classic security-concept, the collective aims to ensure safer space by forming an awareness team for the festival. There will be no tolerance towards violence, sexism and racism. Workshops are organised prior to the festival to discuss practical approaches related to the subject of awareness and how such a concept could be implemented on site.
